

Comments from current students, Christ King graduates, and parents

“When I look back at my time spent at Christ King School, I remember it as a place where I received a solid, multi-faceted education that has enabled me to excel in my high school studies. I felt very prepared for the classes I selected and confident that I could manage the work load high school would require. More importantly, though, I feel Christ King provided me with a strong faith formation and commitment to service that I have carried with me throughout my high school years. It is this combination of academics and faith that makes Christ King so special.”

Alivia Murtha ('07)

“Being alumnae of Christ King has made both of us feel so prepared going into high school. Compared to many other students in our high school classes, we feel very fortunate to come from a grade school with strong academics and excellent teachers. Not only has CK taught us the value of academic excellence, but also the importance of being morally conscious individuals. At Christ King we developed a desire to serve others and give back to our community, particularly through our involvement in student council and the requirement of fulfilling service hours. Both of us are still very close to the friends we made at Christ King. The skills and life lessons which we learned at Christ King affect us every day and continue to help us develop into better individuals.”

John ('09) and Laura ('07) McNabb

“Through the many years that I have attended Christ King, I have learned the kit of life essentials to succeed and grow as a person of faith and love. Christ King has taught me that, no matter what you believe in or what you may succeed in, you are always special in God’s sight. The moment I walked into this school, I discovered magic – the magic of learning, the magic of fun, and the magic of friendship. Christ King has served as my second home for nine years of growth in faith, learning and maturity. I have learned to savor and realize the blessings on God’s love in each and every one of us. Our students will always have a smile on their faces at all times and our staff members are encouraging and are known for reaching out to those who struggle and those who need assistance in any way. We can count on them to have our backs, but we also have to trust ourselves and lead our own paths and times, become more mature in God’s sight. Without Christ King, I don’t know how I could have such a deep relationship with God, such a deep relationship with learning, and such a deep relationship with my friends.”

Sam Pickart ('11)

“Christ King School was a wonderful partner to us in the education of our daughter. From K4 through 8th grade, CK reinforced the tenets of our Catholic faith, provided a strong academic instruction, and offered many meaningful opportunities to serve others. The teachers and administration also helped us underscore the importance of hard work and personal responsibility in achieving academic success. As our daughter progresses through high school, her spiritual, personal, and academic development is evidence of the tremendous value of a Christ King education.”

Linda and Neal Bardele

